

See Something?

Tell Someone.

Now!

SEE— When you are around school simply be aware of your surroundings. You may notice something that doesn't seem right or is simply unusual. Your child may tell you about a situation that seems odd or suspicious.

Tell— Tell someone at your school or call the police but tell someone. We want to know what's happening at our school and your observations are important.

Now— Do it Now. Don't wait, don't hesitate. If something looks wrong, it probably is. Where the safety of our children is concerned it is better safe than sorry.

if you see something, tell someone, now!

Custodial Issues and school procedures

Child custody issues can be painful and awkward for everyone involved. Please be aware, a school cannot deny a biological or adoptive parent access to a child without a court order. If a court order is not shared with the school, both parents will have equal access to students and student's records.

Should you find yourself involved in a custodial change, please notify your school as soon as possible. Provide them with a copy of the court order defining the custodial access. A photograph of a non-custodial parent can also be helpful. As the situation evolves keep the school informed and continue to provide them with copies of the most current court orders of custody arrangements.

At Registration

We need accurate information in order to communicate during a school emergency. At registration make sure that all of the information is current in your child's records:

- ⇒ Home address
- ⇒ Contact information (land line, cell phone, e-mail and text messaging)
- ⇒ Emergency contacts
- ⇒ Medical conditions (allergies, chronic conditions, etc.)
- ⇒ Custody changes
- ⇒ Birth certificate & immunization records (required by state law)

Keep this information current as changes occur

Before the First Day of School

Before the first day of school there are several things to talk through with your child. First will be the expectations your school has for student behavior, dress code and student discipline procedure. You can review this in the Student Code of Conduct or student handbook found at XXXXXXXXXXXX.

Ask about pickup and drop-off procedures for your school. If your student is a bus rider you may need bus stop and ridership information. Please be mindful: If you transport your child the first morning of school, they might not know which bus to ride at the end of the day! Lastly you will want to know the expectations for students who may be walking or biking to school.
